DESCRIBE THE PRESENT AND ORIGINAL (IF KNOWN) PHYSICAL APPEARANCE

Mint Spring Farm is located at Mousetown, a small settlement just north of route 40-A at the southeast side of Boonsboro in Washington County, Maryland. The house is situated on low lying level ground east of Mousetown Road with its principal elevation facing south. It is a two story, three part L-shaped log and brick structure. The main and oldest section of the house would appear to be the log part, a building one bay wide and three bays in length to which was added a three bay brick section of a different roof pitch to its east end wall. Another three bay brick addition was attached perpendicular to the log section.

The log portion of the house is totally sheathed with old wooden siding. Windows have wide, massive frames with quarter round trim. Those at the first story have nine over six pane sashes while upper level windows have six over six sashes. Each window has pairs of raised panel shutters which do not appear to be original. The main entrance to the log section is in its west end wall. It has framing similar to that of the windows and may have had a transom at one time. A brick chimney is located inside its west end wall. Its roof is sheathed with sheet metal and terminates with barge boards set directly against the end walls. The interior of the log house consists of one large room at the first story although at one time there seems to have been a partition running the length of the house just south of the door. Remaining interior woodwork is characteristic of the late 18th or very early 19th century. It includes such features as doors with six raised panels and quarter round door and window trim. The fireplace in the west end wall is framed with an architrave trimmed similarly to those of the doors and windows. A steep staircase is located in the northeast corner.

The two brick sections display American bonding and are painted white. The east wing has wide wooden lintels above the door and window openings. The north addition has short flat arches of brick. Windows have narrow frames with six over six pane sashes. Each section has an inside end chimney. The interior of each brick structure displays mid 19th century woodwork such as symmetrically molded door trim with corner blocks and a raised beveled panel on the parlor fireplace mantel in the east wing.

Various outbuildings are associated with the complex including a stone springhouse, a wood sided outkitchen or secondary dwelling and a small frame barn said to have been a tannery and barrel factory.

The buildings are in excellent condition and stand on a tract of land containing about 20 acres.

STATEMENT OF SIGNIFICANCE

Mint Spring Farm is an example of Maryland vernacular architecture utilizing a variety of typical building materials over several periods of construction. The log part of the house, a two story, three bay structure is the oldest and may date from the late 18th century. The two, two story, three bay brick additions each appear to date from the mid or third quarter of the 19th century.

Deed records regarding this property are not conclusive. As early as 1822 at least part of the property was owned by George Shafer and Henry Locher who may have been partners in business, (FF/994). During the history of the property over the period that was researched, the land was listed in three separate parcels. Subsequent owners were Geroge Young who bought part of the property from Henry Locher in 1838 (TT/472), David Easterday who owned it between 1847 and 1862 (IN11/475, IN11/677) and Jacob H. Snook who held it from 1862 until 1868 (IN19/496, WMCKK1/137). In a Deed of Trust prepared by Jacob H. Snook, he refers to a section of property upon which he then resided which contained about 20 acres and had a tannery. The property remained in the Snook family until 1874 (73/453). It changed hands numerous times until the present.

In all deeds relating to this property reference was made to Maria Factory which was apparently located just north of Mint Spring Farm. According to the Iron Ores of Maryland by Joseph T. Singewald, Jr., Mariah Furnace, as he names it, operated until about 1880. It apparently produced numerous cast iron objects.

The property includes parts of the land grants, "Martsome", "Resurvey on Racoon" and "Resurvey on Well Done."
